JANZ/SAMUEL MOVE THAT the Students' Union create a DFU to:

1. Support Student Groups in representing the University of Alberta in conferences and competitions, regionally, nationally, and internationally, and assisting Student Groups Services in developing shared capital equipment or infrastructure.

2. At an initial cost not to exceed $3.00 per student, per Fall and Winter term, and

3. That students could opt out and receive a full refund.

COURNOYER MOVES THAT Students' Council adopt a political policy based on the following principles:

Students have found BearTracks, the official registration system of the University of Alberta, to be insufficient since its implementation. Therefore, the Students' Union will lobby the University to alter BearTracks so that it will include features such as a graphic interface and waitlist alerts. Otherwise, the Students' Union will continue to advocate for support of BearScat until such time as BearTracks has a level of functionality comparable to that of BearScat. Support of BearScat will not burden students or the Students' Union.

MISSION STATEMENT

The primary aim of the Department is to enable executive-driven advocacy for students’ interests by providing insightful research, careful analysis, clear policy advice, as well as learned strategic counsel. Given that issues may span more than a single executive term, effective continuity is a precondition of progress; therefore the department will also keep records, offer perspective on progress and setbacks, and situate a year’s goals and work within an on-going context.

INTRODUCTION

This strategic plan reflects a long-term view for the department, and as such is intended to provide a general reference point for the following: department history, internal structure, and relationships within the Students’ Union as a whole. The document also makes certain observations and recommendation designed for follow up. It should be noted that this document supercedes the summer 2005 document [see “20050601_AD_Dpt. Strategic Plan.doc”] which aimed to consider both internal and external factors; in contrast, however, it was strongly held throughout the discussions in Winter Term 2007 that this document should focus on internal, department-specific matters. One of the principal recommendations noted below is for a separate Annual Report summary document to be prepared partly responding to this document, but chiefly concerned with assessing external environmental shifts and the Students’ Union’s responses thereto as well as opportunities arising therefrom.

HISTORY

The first position created within the Advocacy area was the Executive Policy & Information Officer (EPIO) or Researcher position. This Researcher provided assistance to all members of the Executive. The Executive Communications Officer (ECO) was initially hired as a part-time student coordinator to assist the President. In 2002-03, it became a full-time permanent position, reporting directly to the President.

In 2004, in the wake of Bill 43, the Advocacy capacity of the Students’ Union underwent a full review. Students’ Council passed a motion to increase the funding and staff level of the department to support the executive in their advocacy initiatives. A consultation process involving the policy committees at the time (the External Affairs Board and the Academic Affairs Board) yielded a number of specific recommendations for department development. A document was prepared for consideration by Students’ Council summarizing the various proposed iterations [see: “20040101_SC_Initial Advocacy structure.doc”]; it characterized the impediments to effective SU advocacy thusly:

The difficulties centered on a difficulty with human resources in the external portfolio, and a lack of information (mostly because of a lack of human resources) in the academic portfolio.”

“We also recognize that over many years the capabilities of executives rarely cover the spectrum of tasks necessary to mount a full cohort of strategies to... affect governmental or administrative action. While it is possible that any student entering these positions will be capable in the full variety of foci, it is unlikely and certainly not to be relied upon for an effective organization. Thus while policy should always be fully dependant on elected officials, skill sets that were judged to be of sufficient importance should be provided for within the organization.

The guiding recommendations included consideration for expense and flexibility. “Whatever structure is suggested at the end, it should certainly have built-in flexibility for further growth, so as to avoid another full visioning in the near future.”

The original recommendations were to add six more staff positions to the existing two, all united under a single departmental umbrella. Due to budgetary restrictions it was decided to move forward with the most emergent needs. Ultimately, the review process added a full-time Advocacy Director to manage a department containing the Executive Communications Officer, the Executive Policy and Information Officer, and a Campus Campaigns Coordinator. A University Policy and Information Officer (UPIO) was created as a part-time position outside the department reporting directly to the VP Academic.

In the winter term of 2006 the executive undertook a review of the department focusing on the academic/student life priorities. At the time there was consideration for the need for the VPSL to expand the portfolio’s lobbying efforts considering the vast amount of on-campus non-academic advocacy that was not being addressed, including but not limited to mandatory fee issues, university services, deteriorating residence quality, relationships with the residence associations and environmental advocacy. The recommendations centered on the creation of a full-time permanent University Affairs Officer (UAO) to provide strategic support for university lobbying; the recommendations also provided for the relocation of the UPIO out from under the VP Academic and into the department to work with the UAO and to make the University Advocacy resources more directly available to the VP Student Life. These changes were cemented by the 2006-2007 budget process where the principles were passed on the basis of the executive recommendation [see “20060401_VPA_University Advocacy Budget proposal.doc” & “20060301_AD_Enhancing University Advocacy.doc”].

This history informs the mandate of the department as a whole. The two main issues outlined in the 2004 document specify the need for greater staff support, and specifically for enhanced ‘knowledge capacity’ enabling information gathering, analysis and retention. There was a desire for enhanced continuity given the inherent limitations imposed by one-year executive terms.

DEPARTMENT STRUCTURE

The Advocacy Department represents the Students’ Union’s political ‘back room’ supporting the elected executive, and as such has very low exposure within the organization, and even less externally. This low profile belies the flurry of activity taking place offstage.

Reporting directly to the President of the Students’ Union, the department’s main purpose is to support the elected executives in realizing their government lobbying, university lobbying, external communications and internal political policy development objectives. The department also assists with the campus political outreach function as a communications function and a campaign exercise (a.k.a. Campus Campaigns). Odd jobs, such as backstopping the U-Pass, may also fall in the purview of the department at the pleasure of the President.

- Advocacy Director (FT perm -- reports to SU President): performs political and financial analysis; provides strategic counsel to execs; manages department resources and supervises staff; liaises with other SU departments; maintains external contacts with peers at other stakeholder groups.

- University Affairs Officer (FT Perm -- reports to Advocacy Director): serves/counsels executive, especially President, VPA and VPSL portfolios in university lobbying; provides policy research and historical context to support initiatives and contributes to policy development; liaises with other offices across campus to move SU initiatives forward as needed; provides counsel on navigating university governance processes and strategy for policy advancement.

- Executive Communications Officer (FT Perm -- reports to Advocacy Director): serves/counsels executive, especially President and VPX portfolios in planning and executing political communications initiatives; monitors, compiles and archives all relevant external media; may also contribute to political strategy and policy analysis; writes campaign materials and other copy as needed, maintains department website.

- University Policy and Information Officer (PT Term -- reports to Advocacy Director): Performs research as directed to support institutionally aimed advocacy efforts; monitors some university and external information sources and summarizes findings; provides research support for UAO; may assist VPs and AVPs with portfolio initiatives (e.g. Professor of the Week); manages records for university advocacy efforts.

- External Policy and Information Officer (PT Term -- reports to Advocacy Director): Performs research as directed to support externally aimed advocacy efforts; monitors a great number of external information sources and summarizes findings; may assist VPs and AVPs with portfolio initiatives (e.g. Campus Campaigns); manages records for external advocacy efforts.

- Campus Campaigns Coordinator (PT July-Feb -- reports to Advocacy Director): Works with VPs and AVPs to coordinate logistics, volunteers and programming for political outreach – aka Campus Campaigns; also, the CCC is charged with volunteer recruitment and may give advice on campus outreach strategies.

Generally speaking, the department manages a lot of inputs, and distills these many inputs with qualitative and quantitative analysis and then reports to the executive. The outputs from most of this work take the form of strategy documents and briefs used by executives. The main external inputs include media monitoring (local, national, some international) and sector trend monitoring (provincial, inter-provincial, national, international), while the main campus inputs include university governance documents and external documents related to pedagogy and institutional management.

It should also be noted that the department also provides these functions in-house, unlike most other students’ associations that tend to either: 1) ignore the need for research and analytical support, 2) defer it to their university’s government relations area and/or 3) contract it out to provincial and/or national student lobby organizations.

CRITICAL SUCCESS FACTORS

- A clear understanding of the respective roles, responsibilities and boundaries of all connected individuals, including executives, associate vice-presidents, department staff and SU staff external to the department.
• Effective collaboration among department members both within specializations as well as across specializations.

• Positive relationships with other post-secondary education stakeholders and political entities.

• The SU as a whole must groom an extensive volunteer base of students who are willing to offer their time and perspectives for advocacy-related initiatives.

• The Advocacy Department must be able to adapt itself from year to year so that it can achieve the objectives of each executive.

• Clear delegation and authorization as well as clear reporting structures.

• Effectiveness and progress should be periodically assessed and, where possible, measured over time as a key element of follow up.

RECOMMENDATIONS

• That the executive and Advocacy Director should prioritize areas of focus and develop implementation strategies for the coming year as part of their advocacy strategy.

• That the executive tackle the question of campus engagement wholistically, considering the Department as a resource in augmenting campus engagement as opposed to assuming the responsibility is delegated to the Department.

• That the Executive and Advocacy Department determine specific long-and short-term goals to focus Advocacy efforts.

  o That the following be adopted as specific short-term goals for the Advocacy Department:

    1) A system of meaningful measures of the Advocacy Department’s productivity and success should be devised and adopted.

    2) Implement a clear & consistent project management regimen.

    3) Devise and implement a key contacts tracking list and annual handoff strategy.

    4) Develop collaborative on-line processes to effectively digest and contextually deliver information to executives as well as cross-inform other department members through daily news feeds and weekly digests.

    5) Implement consistent archiving and data management protocols to speed recall, reduce duplication and make important documents ‘transition proof.’

    6) Incept an annual report and position it as the authoritative internal measure of environmental dynamics as well as exec initiative progress over time.

  o That the following be adopted as long-term goals for the Advocacy Department:

    7) Post-secondary education issues, specifically student concerns, receive more prominent attention in the news media and opinion pages.

    8) The SU work to develop a relationship with specific media personalities.

    9) Enhance built-in department capacity for performing financial analysis.

    10) The SU continues to merit a place of prominence among advocacy organizations in the community (ongoing).

Council Administration Committee

Hello Council:

CAC has met twice since my last report. At the first meeting, we had a presentation from Catherine van der Braak and Astra Aqui on the administrative support available for Council and its Committees. Important points from the discussion were:

- Please copy Catherine on requests to Astra
- Committee Chairs…
  - Please submit requests for preparing agendas and reports at least 24 hours in advance
  - Get your mailbox keys
- Setting a regular meeting schedule also makes the lives of admin staff easier.
- In Council, please speak slowly, loudly, and one at a time to make votes and proceedings easier
- Astra’s hours are 8:30 to 4:30. Catherine’s are variable, but on average are between 7:40 and 4:15.
- Contact info:
  - For Astra – aasc@su.ualberta.ca
  - For Catherine – ea@su.ualberta.ca
  - 492-4236. Or feel free to drop by 2-900 SUB

Based on this presentation, CAC has issued recommendations to all Standing committees to adopt standard agenda, minutes and report templates (contact Astra if you would like a copy). Also, CAC shall change the reporting procedures to only require minutes from committees.

At this same meeting, CAC dealt with a request from Gateway to release attendance of individual Councillors for publication. CAC decided to deal with this problem later.

At our second meeting, CAC adopted a meeting schedule. Also, we made alterations to Council Standing Orders regarding presentations – now presentations require a mover and seconder. We also finalized the Council Retreat schedule. There are other miscellaneous house-keeping matters CAC has or currently is dealing with. Please review our minutes.

If you have any questions, feel free to ask them.

Report to Students’ Council from the Chair of Bylaw Committee:

Summary of Proceedings

With the help of Gregory Harlow, we were able to craft exquisite standing orders to reflect the current work status of Bylaw committee. Key things to note from Council’s standpoint:
- Council directives will be written by a single draftperson. Why is this significant? Because the draftperson can be any person, whether it is someone on Council or not, this should ease the workload on Bylaw significantly, as well Chairs reserve the right to appoint any person.
- Summer project will be to review all of the bylaws and to oversee minor editorial changes, as well we have until July to select whichever bylaw we want to extensively re-work so you have that to look forward to.
- Will meet every on-Council Thursday at 7:00

Have a good one Council!

Re:   Formation of an Edmonton Students' Alliance

Dear fellow Edmonton Students,

Too often people are divided by the 20% that separates them rather than united by the 80% they agree upon. This is perennially true within the student movement. However, one issue that indisputably binds us together is the affordable housing crisis in Edmonton, particularly as it impacts students. This presents an opportunity, however, and I believe that if we unite together the sum or our voices joined together will be considerably more resonant than if separated.

We propose that the University of Alberta Students' Union, the University of Alberta Graduate Students' Association, the MacEwan Students’ Association and the NAIT Students’ Association all unite together under the banner of the EDMONTON STUDENTS' ALLIANCE for purposes of advancing our shared concerns with municipal governments in the Capital Region.

We would envision our mandate to be focused on the affordable housing crisis impacting students at public post-secondary institutions in Edmonton, as well as transportation issues and other municipal-jurisdiction issues affecting students.

By hold joint press conferences, request group lobby meetings, and co-authoring letters to government and to our institutions we will improve the likelihood of focusing considerable media and public attention on the particular challenges of Edmonton’s post-secondary student population.

Sincerely,

Michael Janz
President

AVPA report to Council
May 2007

Hello my beloved Council,

How I have missed you. My only consolation is the fact that I have this wicked sweet job working as AVPA in 2-900. I know what you’re thinking “wicked sweet? Tell me more!” I shall satisfy your curiosity with a brief report on my first month as AVPA.

For my first little bit in the office, Bobby wasn’t here – because he was still on Exec. Retreat – so I attended some General Faculties Council subcommittees for him. A few of the committees that I sit on as AVPA also met during the month of May including: AISSC, AIS (both Tech committees, I would tell you what the acronyms mean if I knew/remembered), the Academic Advisory Committee—Curatorial Facility Meeting (talked about making a museum graduate studies program), and the Faculty Based ICT committee (where we discussed new IT implementations). Bobby and I also hold our own meetings to ensure good communications, we call these meetings “Academic Shenanigans”.

Aside from meetings, I did a great deal of reading my first couple weeks. I had to catch up on all the goings-on from years previous. I have also begun coordinating the CoFA retreat.

However, my main endeavor, this past week especially, has been preparing for the Society for Teaching and Learning in Higher Education conference. I am making the booklet for the roundtable organized by ARG and preparing the table set-up. This is a big undertaking, but I have really enjoyed working on it. While I do have to report to Bobby about it and get feedback from ARG and some STLHE volunteers, I have been given a great deal of freedom with regards to its genesis.

That was my past month in a nutshell. No, this was my past month in a nutshell: “Help! I’m in a nutshell! How did I get into this great big nutshell? What kind of shell has a nut like this?”

Lonely? Curious about your academic community? Like to listen to Modest Mouse? Then come on down and visit me in 2-900! (You can still come if you don’t fit the aforementioned criteria.) OR you can e-mail me at avpa@su.ualberta.ca I look forward to hearing from you! =)
Hello Council!

Hope all is dandy with everyone and that your first month on Council has been swell. Anywhoosts, here is some information on the various shenanigans that occur on my side of the good ol’ Pod:

- High School Leadership Conference (HSLC): The HSLC is my big project for the year. I am currently in the initial planning stages for the event, including researching other leadership conferences, booking dates and venues, looking for speakers and session leaders, and beginning Faculty specific sponsorship. The conference is set to occur on November 2nd and 3rd of this year and the theme will be “Making a Dent in the Universe”. Be warned: I may be bombarding you with HSLC volunteer recruitment in the future.

- Campout for Affordable Housing: Steve and I are working on the first event of the year. We are planning to hold a campout in Quad sometime during the third or fourth week of September and are working on logistics and brainstorming activities for the event. If you have any suggestions or ideas, please shoot them my way.

- Filing: I spent a good chunk of May re-organising the files of the AVPEX portfolio (which took a significantly longer time than I had anticipated). I also compiled a binder of final reports from past CRCs, CLOs, and AVPEX’. I am still searching for a few more reports, but I hope to find them eventually.

- Other:
  - I am also working with Steve on organising a candidate’s forum for the municipal election. We are looking at hosting the event during the first week of October.
  - The SU will be hosting the Alzheimer’s Society Coffee Break on September 21st. This year will mark our fifth year of participation in the event.

- Team X-Factor: Steve and I and decided to call ourselves “Team X-Factor”…because we’re cool cats and all that jazz…

If you have any questions or comments on any of the aforementioned points, please feel free to contact me at avpex@su.ualberta.ca or stop by my office in 2-900 to chat.

Cheers,
Pam
Hey Council, so here’s a summary of what I’ve been up since last we met:

-Coffee Meetings Galore – It continues, ‘nuff said.
-Formative Feedback – We’re working to improve participation in the project as well as doing a presentation on it to STLHE, mainly headed by Chris Henderson.
-STLHE/ARG – we just had a meeting to discuss class sizes and the prospect of having TAs host seminars to improve student engagement. As well, ARG is hosting a round-table discussion on the Professor-Student gap at STLHE. We’re finished producing the book and it looks really good, special shout-out to Michelle Chan, Courtney Spelliscy, Leah Trueblood, Tasneem Karbani, Amanda Henry, and Brittney Bugler for putting in a tremendous amount of work to create a darn good book.
-Bear Scat – ongoing, more on Tuesday.
-Collective Body of Arts Students – the meeting with the Dean went really well, currently they are working on a set of bylaws and recruiting others to help them out in the preliminary processes. They also signed the contract outlining the terms of probation.
-Wireless – AICT is coming in to improve wireless in SUB and CAB (first two priorities for them), it’s part of a plan to create campus-wide wireless
-VARGO Teaching Chair- really prestigious award presented by the University for a professor who exemplifies commitment to teaching, results will be announced later.
-24/7 SUB Report – It was submitted to the Strategic Initiatives Group where they passed it unanimously. From here, it goes to Executive Planning Committee (EPC) where they make the final decision about funding.

Any questions? Throw ‘em my way and I’ll do my best to answer!
Hey guys,
Here’s my first report in on time to make the actual agenda. This is what I’ve been up to lately.

- Union negotiations began for me last Wednesday and Thursday. They have been ongoing since April, and shall continue to be ongoing for a while as the next round or negotiations aren’t until late June. In the words of Bob Goodenow, “There has been some great dialogue, and that’s all I can say at this time.”

- I have now met with (I hope) all of the service directors in the SU, trying to inform them of the process that I plan on implementing over the summer regarding early submissions of goals and accountability measures that BFC will be able to review. I have also been learning a lot from these directors about what it is these services actually do. Very interesting.

- Our slurpee machine is now installed. That’s right, all four barrels. Wireless access points have been purchased, and we are moving quickly ahead on installing three main floor SUB express computer terminals.

- We recently hired a web content editor (a position that has been empty at least since I’ve been here). It should now be easier and more efficient to update the website and streamline our messaging and services to students.

- I’m still really loving my job despite the fact that so many people told me I would feel otherwise by this point.

Until next time,
Eamonn Gamble
Hello Council,

My apologies for my absence. I am celebrating my convocation! If you have questions, e-mail me at chris.le@su.ualberta.ca.

- Meeting with President Indira Samarasekera: The Exec visited President Indira and presented several issues to her. I spoke to her about the Exec’s desire to support student groups on campus to promote student engagement. I hope that the University will line up with the SU in this area since promoting citizenship is part of the language in Dare to Discover. Additionally, I brought up the Exec’s commitment to transparency regarding student money and our expectation to see the same from the University.

- Physical Activity and Health Complex (PAHC): The Exec met with several people involved with the PAHC project, which is a proposed building with academic space and student health & wellness facilities. They want to have student partnership in building PAHC; however, the Exec maintained that Political Policy No. 13 (Capital Projects – Student Fees) prevents the SU from supporting “the creation of fees that directly support capital projects.”

- VPSL Advocacy Goals and Reports: I report to the University Policy Committee (UPC) about my advocacy activities. Check the UPC agenda for more detailed info.

- Student Life Committees (SLCs): I made a small name change. While I referred to SLSAC and SLPC collectively as the Student Life Boards, I thought it made more sense to call them the Student Life Committees. SLSAC discussed the SU Student Services and are considering which ones to review this year. SLPC generated many original campus-wide activities and will narrow down its programs for the year, too. We went on retreat on 8-9 June 2007 at Strathcona Wilderness Centre.

- Responsible Hospitality Edmonton Panel: We discussed campaigns to curb bar violence in Edmonton. In particular, we were updated on a project about late-night transportation on Whyte Avenue.

- The Canadian Organization of Campus Activities (COCA): On Wednesday morning I will join Christine Rogerson (Operations Manager – Venues) and Mike Schwake (AVPSL) in Niagara Falls, ON, for the COCA conference. It focuses on a variety of entertainment and programming issues that relate specifically to campuses. I will have a report for Council.
