Re: Engineering Faculty Association Membership Fee Creation

Dear Mr. Speaker,

Please accept the attached proposal and appendices as part of the Engineering Faculty Association Membership Fee Creation package to be presented at the November 30, 2010 meeting of Students’ Council.

Sincerely,

Claire Smith
President 2010-2011
Engineering Students’ Society
Purpose

As the Engineering Students’ Society, and the Faculty Association for engineering, our mission is to promote professional awareness among engineering students by encouraging a sense of unity and integrity through the combined efforts of all engineers working together in both social and technical activities. The Faculty Association Membership Fee (FAMF) allows the Engineering Students’ Society (ESS) to offer a wide range of events and services that aim to fulfill this mission.

Amount

Each full-time on-campus student in the Faculty of Engineering shall be required to pay $4.00 per term as a FAMF. Part-time students and off-campus students pay $0.00 per term. Visiting and Special students as defined by the University of Alberta are exempt from payment under the Bylaw.

Scope

The scope of this proposal is to create the engineering FAMF. The FAMF was originally created and implemented for the 2002-2003 year with a four year term. It was then recreated for the 2006-2007 year with an expiry in August 2010. Unfortunately the FAMF expired on August 31, 2010 without being recreated for the 2010-2011 year. This document proposes the recreation the FAMF for another four year period beginning Fall 2011.

Fee Lifetime

The Engineering FAMF will be collected starting Fall Term 2011 and will be collected until Winter Term 2015, inclusive. The expiry will occur on August 31, 2015.

Opt-Out Mechanism

The ESS will be responsible for administering the opt-out mechanism for the FAMF. Engineering students must provide written notification of their intent to opt-out of the FAMF during the term that they have paid. The ESS shall release reimbursements within one month of receiving the funds from the Registrar’s Office (via the Students’ Union). See Appendix I for the full Opt-Out Form.

Allocation

Financial Oversight

The ESS will require proposals from the recipients of the FAMF monies who are not the ESS. These proposals will outline the anticipated expenditures to be made with the allocated funds, further requirements for the proposals are dictated by the ESS Policy Manual. These proposals will be evaluated and approved by the FAMF Committee or the Engineering Student Groups Fund Committee as per the ESS Policy Manual sections B.2.4 and C.2.4 respectively. (Relevant sections of the Policy Manual are located in Appendix III) The ESS will also require annual reports indicating how funds received have been spent from each of the recipients (excluding the ESS). The Board of Directors of the ESS is delegated the authority to require each of the recipients to provide the Board a satisfactory accounting of their spending of the fee money and may withhold allocated funds if no such accounting is provided. The ESS will be accountable to the Students’ Council with respect to financial oversight as required by Students’ Union Bylaw 8200.

REFUND FOR FACULTY ASSOCIATION MEMBERSHIP FEE

To receive reimbursement from the Engineering Students’ Society, for collecting a Faculty Association Membership Fee (FAMF), a student must fill out this form. A student is only eligible if he/she has paid the FAMF in their tuition fees, as collected by the Registrar’s Office and the Students’ Union. The FAMF is a voluntary fee, and filling out this form is the only way to opt-out of payment. The FAMF collects $4.00 per semester for the fall and winter semesters.

I, __________________________________________, request to be refunded the Engineering Students’ Society FAMF for the ______________semester. The reason I wish to be refunded this fee is:

___ I cannot afford the fee

___ I disagree with the fee because:

B.2.4: Distribution of Faculty Association Membership Fee

Relevant section of proposal to Students’ Council regarding FAMF:

Scope:
The Engineering Faculty Association Membership Fee is intended to replace the current Engineering Students’ Society membership fee structure in order to create opportunities for student involvement and support engineering student activities.

Financial Oversight:
The Engineering Students’ Society will require financial statements from the recipients who are not the ESS or ESAF indicating the anticipated expenditures to be made with the allocated funds. The Faculty Association Membership Fee funds received from the Registrar will be held separately from the remainder of the ESS’ funds, under policies established by the Board of Directors and approved by a General Meeting. The ESS will also require annual reports indicating how funds received from the fee have been spent from each of the recipients (excluding the ESS and ESAF) by February 15 of each year, and compile a report for Students’ Council by March 15 of each year indicating how the monies have been spent. The ESS will report to Students’ Council as required by Bylaw 8451 and fully comply with any other legislation adopted by Students’ Council with respect to financial oversight. The ESS will also open its books to Students’ Council or delegated bodies for inspection under reasonable terms of access with respect to the fee. The Board of Directors of the Engineering Students’ Society is delegated the authority to require from each of the recipients that they provide to the Board a satisfactory accounting of their spending of fee money, and may withhold allocated funds if such an accounting is not provided. A General Meeting may overturn, uphold, or vary the decision of the Board of Directors. The Financial Affairs Board of the Students’ Union will be advised of actions taken by the Board of Directors and General Meetings.

Policy:
1. Any changes to the distribution of FAMF must be made at a General Meeting, and will be reflected in the subsequent allocation of funds.
2. The current distribution of FAMF is as follows:
   a. $1.00 to the Engineering discipline clubs
   b. $1.00 to the Engineering Student Groups Fund
   c. $0.25 to cover the costs of Geer Week
   d. $0.65 to cover the printing costs of the Engineers’ Handbook
   e. $0.70 to the Engineering Conferences & Competitions Fund
   f. $0.10 to cover the costs of first year orientation activities
   g. $0.30 to cover the printing costs of The Bridge
3. Distribution of any funds allocated by a General Meeting to the Society for specific purposes will be immediately upon receipt of the funds from the Students’ Union.
4. Distribution of any funds allocated by a General Meeting to discipline clubs recognized by the ESS will be conducted as follows:
   a. Upon receipt of the funds in the FAMF/ESAF account, the Society will determine the allocations to the Clubs in adherence with the relevant policies, and submit such allocations to the Board of Directors for information.
   b. Clubs must document how FAMF funds will be spent, and submit this information to the Society before receiving their allocation. The submission should contain:
      i. detailed receipts for items spent in accordance with submitted proposals, if possible.
      ii. a summary of how students have benefited from the FAMF funding.
   c. Recipients who are not the Society that fail to submit the information outlined above, may have additional allocated funding withheld, at the discretion of the Board of Directors.
5. Members who have paid into FAMF will have the opportunity to have their contribution refunded, if they are philosophically opposed or otherwise unable to contribute to the fund.
   a. The deadline for requesting a refund shall be determined by the Vice-President (Finances and Operations), but shall occur at least once per term.
b. The opportunity to refund a FAMF contribution, and the date of the deadline to request this refund, must be well advertised to members through several media formats at least two weeks before the deadline.

c. The Society will, upon verification of the members’ payment of the FAMF, refund this contribution by whatever means available no later than one month after the Society has received these funds.

2010 Review of Executive Honoraria

Background

Every second year, in even-numbered years, the Students’ Association of Mount Royal University renews the Executive Committee honoraria. In 2005, Students’ Council passed a motion benchmarking our Executive Committee honorarium as follows:

“That, effective May 1, 2005, SAMRC Executive Honoraria be benchmarked at a level that is based on an average of:

- the honoraria paid to student leaders at University of Calgary, University of Alberta, Grant McEwan College and Southern Alberta Institute of Technology obtained on April 1st of each year, and
- the average income of Albertans with high school graduation certificate and/or some post-secondary education, as published by Statistics Canada and adjusted for inflation. Inflation will be based on Alberta “All Things”, calculated May over April.”

Why Pay Your Student Reps? Jeff Rybak, March 18, 2010, Maclean’s OnCampus

Because really, it’s a worthwhile investment

For those in the Toronto area, city councillor Rob Ford is revving up for a probable campaign for mayor. This wouldn’t be especially relevant to student politics, save that Ford’s attitude towards budgeting and reasonable expenses in fulfilling his role as a city councillor has always struck me as symptomatic of a problem in student organizations. Ford is a cost-cutter and a penny-pincher. This is his major claim to fame and the source of his popular appeal. He’s against office budgets and funds used to communicate with constituents and he thinks everyone gets paid too much to run the city. And I’ve got to admit, any time I see money spent in stupid ways or on stupid things or paid to stupid people I feel the tug of his message too. But then I remember where it’s coming from.

Ford, you see, is quite independently well off. Rather than spend taxpayers’ money he’d prefer to spend his own. That’s how he funds events in his riding, and how his official office budget each year is $0, and how he can afford to suggest that everyone running Toronto (including himself) is overpaid. He doesn’t need the money. And while his public spirit is admirable, and sometimes I even like him despite my disagreement with his politics, I also have to wonder where it would lead us if we follow that attitude towards its logical conclusion.

When folks look at students’ unions and see people getting paid to represent their peers they often wonder how it can be justified. This sometimes applies to the student press as well, and other organizations where students may be paid to varying degrees. One common reaction is to think “if they really cared about doing the job, they’d do it for free.” Some even think “hey, I’m willing to do it for free — why would anyone want them instead?” And while these ideas are commendable, in a Rob Ford kind of way, they do circumvent an important question. Who can afford to simply volunteer and to do these jobs for free? Or more importantly — who cannot afford to?

Some positions on campus represent very significant commitments of time and energy. It’s not uncommon for these positions to simply require a reduced course load — either formally in the by-laws of the organization in question or informally due to the demands of the job. And again, while there’s some justice to the notion that these roles are assumed voluntarily and anyone who goes in with their eyes open should be prepared for the demands, this notion necessarily suggests that a certain kind of person need not apply. So the students who are poor and can’t afford to volunteer dozens of hours each week, or cannot possibly afford to extend the duration of their studies without some compensation, they are effectively barred from the jobs entirely. And is that what we want?

Here is where I think there’s a special onus on representative organizations to ensure that it’s possible for anyone (or at least most people) to represent their peers. Much as I may applaud some of Rob Ford’s sentiments, his politics essentially imply that city council should be run by independently wealthy individuals who can afford to pay their own costs and fund their own activities. And this is not representative democracy in any real sense. It can only lead to skewed politics and bad outcomes. Government by the wealthy inevitably becomes government for the wealthy.

Now in a student context, there are obviously two important limits. First, some student groups simply can’t compensate their representatives adequately and so must run on volunteerism. If there’s simply no other choice then so be it — you do what you’ve got to do. Second, there’s no reason that students need to be paid well for their commitments — only adequately. And yes, I have seen some student organizations where executive compensation seems to have got out of control. This too can lead to unfortunate outcomes, so really it’s all about striking a balance.

When there are competing demands for every dollar in an organization — and this is inevitably the case because there’s never enough money — it’s easy to wonder why we’d bother paying students or funding their commitments. But in fact it’s one of the best investments that any organization can make. If the people who run your organization and who represent students are not themselves typical students then your entire mission is skewed. It undermines everything you are hoping to accomplish. There will always be examples of money that isn’t spent well or of people who don’t earn what they’re paid. And it’s useful to have someone around who will keep an eye out for that, even if it’s a Rob Ford type. But that attitude cannot be allowed to deflect the entire mission of a student organization, which is to represent real students. And students, typically, cannot afford to take on full-time jobs for free.

Dear Members of Students’ Council,

It is with great sadness that I must send to you my resignation from Students’ Council, effective December 1\textsuperscript{st}, 2010. My time as an undergraduate at the University of Alberta culminates when I finish my final practicum on December 8\textsuperscript{th}, and as such will no longer able to represent the students in the Faculty of Nursing.

I thank you all for your dedication to serving your students, and for welcoming me into such an inspiring organization. I wish you all the best of luck in whatever endeavors you shall pursue.

With all my respect and admiration;
