April 2\textsuperscript{nd},

\textbf{To:} Students’ Council

\textbf{Re:} Report to Council for April 7\textsuperscript{th} meeting

Dearest of all Councils,

I bring you my report:

\textbf{CASA}

I attended 1.5 days of the CASA conference. I have a few updates from you as I’m sure does President Lau:

\begin{itemize}
\item The Students’ Association of MacEwan University (SAMU) is now an official member of CASA!
\item Developing a campaign about the rising cost of higher education and how student debt is becoming family debt
\item We are hiring a new Executive Director
\end{itemize}

\textbf{Budget Aftermath}

As released on March 26\textsuperscript{th}, Budget 2015 introduces a 1.4\% cut to universities’ operating grants in 2015/16 and a planned continuation of the cut by 2.7\% in 2016/17. This amounts to a 4.1\% cut which follows a 7.2\% cut in 2013. While the institutions’ leaders (Presidents Samarasekera and UofC President Cannon) have expressed “optimism”, I fear that this will bring about a lower quality experience couple with higher costs for students.

The Budget also introduces mixed changes to student aid. As I mentioned during my last oral report, the funding for the Completion Incentive Grant has been repurposed – part of that went to doubling the Low Income Grant (which is good!) but the rest went into increasing funding for the loans program. Overall, students will have less access to grants and bursaries -- $18 million has been cut from grants and bursaries.

The rest of the week has primarily been focused on getting the message out in the media about how the Budget affects post-secondary education. The highlight of the media appearances was my interview on \textit{Alberta PrimeTime}! That was a very cool experience.

Articles for more information and in which members of CAUS have been quoted:

\begin{itemize}
\item Edmonton Journal: MacEwan won’t fill dozens of vacant positions to cope with budget cuts
\item Vue Weekly: Provincial funding cuts to post-secondary potentially sets up a deeper gouge of students’ wallets
\item Metro Calgary: Alberta sees surge in available student-loan dollars, but advocates aren’t exactly overjoyed
\item Metro Calgary: Program cuts not in ‘game plan’ this year: Mount Royal University prez
\item Edmonton Journal: Budget attacks intellectual independence and academic autonomy of post-secondary schools
\item The Gateway: Budget 2015 brings four per cent cut to PSE funding over two years, offers increased student aid
\end{itemize}
I’m also hearing that the election will be called on Tuesday (if this is true, we will know by the time this meeting happens). That means we have to work really hard and fast to prepare for a press conference this week in order to officially launch our Get Out the Vote Campaign.

This is last report to you as your Vice President External. The rest of my time will be spent wrapping up projects and transitioning the rest to incoming VPX Dylan Hanwell. This has been an incredible year and I’m really proud of the discussions that we’ve had and the growth I’ve seen in some of you. Congratulations on the end of a term and good luck with final exams!

As always, send me any questions you have and I’ll do my best to provide you with all the information you need.

Much love,

Hi Council,

This report covers from March 24th to April 2nd.

Earlier today, I got to thinking about the difference between the executive portfolios. I had the thought that the VPX goals are perceived differently than other executive goals, where they might not actually be so different. When the VPA, VPSL, and VPOF might get wins here and there over their term, it comes from a larger context. Our work ultimately contributes to macro goals for our portfolios. These projects and goals last for years. Where a VPX is lobbying the government, we’re here on campus lobbying the University, finding partners on campus and in the city, and working in the SU to find efficiencies and opportunities.

After a full term, now, I also see my role differently than I did at the start. I now see the VPSL in an area somewhere functionally between the VPA and the VPOF, rather than the counterpart to the VPA as an academic / non-academic duo.

On the VPOF side of things, I got to spend time doing ‘the job’ - sitting on operating committees and working groups in the SU and the University. For example, we both sit on Health and Dental Plan, U-Pass, PAW Operating, and so on. I have services update meetings, programming and venues update meetings, orientation network meetings, fall reading week task force meetings, and on and on. These are functional committees we inherit that advance the SU, and programs established in partnership with the University.

On the VPA side of things, I got spend time in meetings with the University, with the City, and in a governance role with residence associations. I became the de-facto point person for supporting the ISA most of the time, and I chaired COFA MSWG and the RHA. I sit on roughly 20 University committees.

So, with the idea of managing short term goals and macro goals, alongside fulfilling the duty to uphold prior SU commitments and be active in the University bureaucracy, the way in which we have to manage our hours becomes critical. I was told on the way in that a 40 hour work week does not cut it, and it was exactly right. Executives often end up working 50-70 hours a week depending on the time of year.

I will say, though, that the idea of individual executive goals seems like a strange concept at the end of my term - my goals came from my platform, sure, but a lot of the ideas and the work and the outcomes came from our brilliant organization working as a unit. We professionalized our organization a few decades ago because of the value of having our vision tempered by the passion and expertise of the people we hire. It’s exactly why I get so passionate about defending the organization.

The feeling I’ve gotten from council at times has been that there’s a disconnected feeling between the whole bureaucracy of the SU and council. I spent a good portion of the year thinking and deliberating on that exact same effect… but between departments. While the distance between council and the SU as a whole might seem vast, you can sometimes see that difference in perspective even between departments of our organization. So what did we do? We worked on it. We worked on it in the staff area. We’re working on it with council. This year has been huge for organizational change in the SU, and I’m confident our successors and our staff will carry that work through.

At the end of my term, now, I can say that I am happy with how things have gone, both across the SU, and in my own portfolio. We cleaned up house, had a few ‘wins’, and advanced some macro goals. I wouldn’t change a thing.

So, about that report... Here you go!

- Residence Association MOU: We have three meetings in April. VP-elect Kwan will join me at them where possible. The core goal is to resolve the Residence Association fee proposals and related discussion.
- Residence White Paper: I'm working over the weekend to submit the final draft for late additions. RHA meets on April 7th and will decide what they want to do with it.
- RHA: Asset transfer to the SU will happen over April. Joint Executive Training is in a few weeks, and is currently being planned between Residence Services and DG.
- Prayer Space: MOU is signed by all parties. Fundraising meeting is happening on April 16.

Council and Governance

- COFA MSWG: COFA MSWG had phenomenal feedback on COFA MSWG, the FA/SU relationship, and governance camp. I’m going to write it up in my transition document to VP elect Kwan, and leave it with our general manager.
