We would like to respectfully acknowledge that our University and our Students’ Union are located on Treaty 6 Territory. We are grateful to be on Cree, Dene, Saulteaux, Métis, Blackfoot, and Nakota Sioux territory; specifically the ancestral space of the Papaschase Cree. These Nations are our family, friends, faculty, staff, students, and peers. As members of the University of Alberta Students’ Union we honour the nation-to-nation treaty relationship. We aspire for our learning, research, teaching, and governance to acknowledge and work towards the decolonization of Indigenous knowledges and traditions.

Dear Council,

I hope you are all staying hydrated and enjoying the cooler weather! I'm enjoying the long summer days, and trying to forget that they only get shorter from here on. The last two weeks have been a flurry of activity for the Executive team as we have all made significant progress on projects and campaigns we plan to launch in the fall.

We are working to determine exactly how UASU events and Week of Welcome will look this year. While it will be a bit different from most years due to the short timelines available and the impact of COVID on our budget, we do still anticipate being able to host excellent in-person events. There will also be some exciting new things in WOW this year that we look forward to being able to announce in the next few weeks. I can’t wait to see you all there!

Exceptional Tuition Increase (ETI) Proposals

Christian and I, along with the Research and Advocacy team, have finished our response submission to the University’s ETI proposals. Please let me know if you’d like to read the package and I would be happy to provide you a copy. We are also meeting with staff from the Minister’s office this Friday to discuss the ETI proposals and our specific concerns with them. We remain confident in our case against the proposals, particularly the proposal for the BSc. Engineering. For the time being, we believe it is important to move deliberately and carefully on this issue. We will be able to update Council in more detail on next steps once we have more information about the government’s perspective and the approval timelines.

Executive Goals

The draft Executive Goals are ready to be presented to Council, but due to the very long agenda and number of presentations today I decided it would be appropriate to leave... the presentation to the next meeting on July 28th. You can look forward to seeing the presentation then!

Students Who Parent Strategy Startup: Update

The Executive Committee approved the terms of reference for the Students Who Parent Strategy Group. We will be working with partners at Aboriginal Students’ Council, Student Parents on Campus, and the Graduate Students’ Association to fill the seats, and we anticipate starting meetings in early August.

We have also discussed opportunities to improve campus childcare with our partners in University administration and across campus, and the response has been positive. We hope that the Government of Alberta will provide some clarity on its plans to federal funding intended to provide $10/day childcare across Canada. British Columbia has already announced the details of its program, and while Alberta is much further behind in our planning, we hope to learn more in the Fall. Ensuring that Alberta’s agreement with the federal government provides for the kind of flexible hours and drop-in arrangements student parents need is a major advocacy priority for the Christian and I and the whole Council of Alberta University Students team this year.

Translation Granting Update

In collaboration with our External Relationships Director, Nigel, I have been working on securing the Department of Canadian Heritage grant for bylaw, policy, and election package translations that I discussed last week. We have received a quote from a translator and I am putting together a project allocation request for the Executive Committee. Once we approve the project at the first meeting of Translation Committee, we will submit the application to the department. We should receive the funds within three weeks and complete the translation project in early Fall.

There’s a lot more I’m working on, including improving options for access with campus partners on our Perks app, ensuring appropriate communications training for the Executive team, and much more. As always, get in touch if you have any questions or want to chat!

VPA Report #6

Attachments

Dear Council,

Welcome to my VPA Council Report, where I will be taking you through a glimpse of my last two weeks. There have been quite a few things that have happened in the VPA world, so please give it a read, and if you have any questions, I’m happy to answer them! Also, here is a picture of my past work week, just to give you an idea of what I do day-to-day if any of you are interested!

Nominating Committee Update

Last week, NomCom met to ratify two undergraduate student-al-large (SAL) seats for the Aboriginal Relations and Reconciliation Committee and one undergraduate SAL seat for the Translation Committee. We have also extended the applications for Student Group Committee SAL seats for another two weeks. PLEASE PLEASE PLEASE encourage anyone you know who may be interested in getting involved in SU governance and who is currently a student.
Please check out the Standing Orders HERE to get more information on what this position is all about!

Student Governance Code of Conduct Update

I have been continuing consultation on the First Principles of the Code of Conduct. I have received valuable feedback from many Faculty Association student leaders about what they would like to see reflected in this document. After consultation with the International Students’ Association and Aboriginal Students’ Council, First Principles will come to the Students’ Council for approval.

CoFA Advocacy Working Group First Meeting!

CoFA Advocacy had our first meeting last week, and we had a great initial discussion about expectations and goals for the Working Group this year. Going forward, many FAs have many shared goals and expectations, so I see this group being very collaborative and doing meaningful work for their constituents over the next year!

In addition to these updates, there are many other areas where I continue to do work such as the Governance Restructuring Task Force recommendations, SRA Summit planning, drafting Political policy and Bylaw, and following up with University Administration on what to expect for the Fall and Zero Textbook Cost Indicators. Going forward, I will continue to update you in these reports as there are developments!

Cheers,

Council Report 21_07_09.pdf
Hiya Council!

The last two weeks have been less busy, with little or no advocacy meetings to report, as a result, I will highlight some of the notable meetings I have had in the last two weeks.

Notable Meetings

CAUS Strategic Plan

The chair of CAUS Policy committee, Karen Fletcher (Athabasca University VP External Affairs), is currently consulting with Council of Alberta University Student (CAUS) members to receive their input on the CAUS strategic plan. This past Wednesday, she met with me, President Ley and VP Monteiro to hear UASU’s perspective on the direction CAUS should be going.

We covered questions like what Indigenous consultation and advocacy should look for CAUS in the future; what should CAUS’s relationship with the government be, what should CAUS’s relationship with the media be and what should CAUS give to its members in 2024. President Ley, VP Monteiro and I stressed the importance of CAUS continuing to work on the fundamentals that help strengthen the structure of the organization and continue to find ways to provide value to membership and students.

Ari Campbell

I met with our new External Relations Specialist in Research and Advocacy, Arielle Campbell. This role works closely with the President and Vice President External and provides them with support and assistance in the realm of all things external advocacy. In our meeting Arielle and I got to know each other better, I shared my goals and plans for the year and she covered how she can work to support these goals.

Edmonton Student Alliance Chair transition meeting

I met with former President of the Student’s Association of Macewan University (SAMU) and Chair of the Edmonton Student Alliance (ESA) Sean Waddingham for a Chair Transition meeting. Sean helped me navigate the Google Drive, provided nice to know and tips for chairing, important timelines and events such as the release of the City Council budget.

Thank you once again for taking the time to read my report and as always, if you have any questions email, call or meet me in person, my door is always open!

Yours Externally,

Christian Fotang

University of Alberta Students’ Union Vice President External

Re: Vice President Operations & Finance 2021/22 Report #6

Dear Council,

Hello there! I hope you are all doing well and somehow found a way to survive the heatwave we were hit with last week. Thankfully, the weather this week is much cooler! Plant update, I have added another plant to my collection; only twenty-three more to go. I got a Ficus, specifically a Ficus Microcarpa Ginseng. Unfortunately, I do not have a picture of it in my report today, but stay tuned for my next report.

Services Update
With students returning to campus in September, our services have begun to plan their operations for the Fall semester. Note that this is our best guess as to what our operations will look like and may be subject to change.

Infolink
Four Infolink locations will be open; CAB desk, the InfoLink ONEcard Service Center in HUB mall, Student Life Central in SUB, and the International Services Centre in the Telus Centre. Desks will open on the first day of classes.

The Landing
The landing will have a drop-in space open with applicable health regulations for in-person support. Additionally, Discord will be open for online support and community building. There will be options for one-on-one in-person appointment requests and weekly/bi-weekly programming online over Discord.

Emily Kimani, Vice President Operations and Finance
2-900 SUB | 780 492 4241 | vp.finance@su.ualberta.ca
Safewalk
Safewalk will be fully operational, with applicable health or University regulations such as wearing a mask when riding public transit. The hours of operation will be 6 pm to midnight.

Equity, Diversity, and Inclusivity Task Force (EDIT)
Interviews for EDIT were conducted in the last two weeks, and members of the task force have now been selected. We received numerous applications from a diversity of students. Although the selection process was difficult because we had many strong candidates, VP Dixon and I are excited to have our first meeting as a task force and begin our work for the year.

Fee Governance Review Committee
All the Fee Governance Review committee seats have now been filled by Council, Audit, Bylaw, and Finance committee. Hopefully, we can begin meeting in mid-July and start our work for the year. As I have mentioned, the Fee Governance Review Committee will help us address the complexities and inconsistencies in our bylaws to ensure effective, efficient, and transparent oversight for student fees.

I have also been working on some of my projects for the year! If you have any specific questions on any of my projects or questions about anything I have included in this report, please reach out. As always, I’m always down to grab a coffee and chat.

All the best,

Emily

Hey Council!

The past few weeks have been busy and unbelievably hot. Just remember this is only the hottest summer of your life so far :)

Because this is the end of spring I thought I would give you a progress update on my platform points. Out of my 12 main platform points, I have made substantial progress on 5. All 5 of these projects are ahead of schedule, and we will complete them relatively soon. I have detailed plans for the other platform points and I will keep you up to date with those.

Period Equity
VP Kimani and I have signed a contract with the sustainable period product company Ruth. Signing this contract means that we have made huge project progress as we have achieved our goal of providing sustainable menstrual products and promoting sustainability on campus.

The Ring Houses Coalition
The Ring House Coalition continues to do amazing work. On Tuesday the collective held a meeting for interested community members called: “Ring Around the Ring Houses: Community Conversations & Historic Preservation”, and on Friday the execs toured the houses. I encourage you to get involved with the collectives work as the collective is working not only to protect buildings but build community on campus, expand services provided on campus and improve sustainability efforts.

EDIT
On Monday we finalized the members of EDIT. We are planning on meeting within the next two weeks. VP Kimani and I have made optional plans for what the committee can work on, but we plan to let the committee pick. Hopefully, we will be able to tell you all soon what we choose to work on.

CSJ Meeting
I had a meeting with Sithara and Joannie about the issues CSJ are experiencing. We discussed the return to campus and CSJs unique challenge, translations, issues in residence, and collaboration on events.

The return to campus
Many things are still up in the air when it comes to the return to campus strategy. From the committees I am on, here’s what I can tell you.

1. The Touchdown Spaces working group had their second meeting this week. This working group is attempting to find spaces across campus where students can attend online meetings/classes in between in-person commitments. We are still working to determine the spots but it looks like there will be both first come first serve and bookable spaces mainly in libraries.

2. Planning for fall is constantly changing. And while this hasn’t been fully decided on it looks like events, in-person meetings etc, will be allowed with a risk assessment. You can learn a lot about it here, but generally, masks, vaccinations, and social distancing won’t be mandatory; they will be highly encouraged.

3. The Student Service Center will be opening in mid-August. This will become a hub that connects students with resources across campus. This centre will include an info link desk. They will also be hiring more academic advisors meaning that they will go from 11 to 21 advisors.

Student Services Fall Updates

Here are some updates on Student Services:

- InfoLink will have locations open at CAB desk, Student Life Central, InfoLink ONEcard Service Centre, and International Services Centre. They will be continuing and expanding services provided pre-pandemic. This includes the reintroduction of discounted ticket sales and expansion of the lost & found. They also have some accommodations for students studying remotely.

- The Landing will also be open in the Fall. They will have drop-in sessions available. Their very successful discord will continue to provide online support and community building. This discord includes a French language support channel for FSJ and francophone-queer students, and there will also be one-on-one in-person sessions available.

- Safewalk is returning to normal. Hours of operation remain the same; 6 pm to midnight, and Safewalk will continue to walk within 10 blocks of an LRT station

Sexual violence

My interview with CBC about sexual violence came out this week. I hope that this interview will draw public attention to the important issue of addressing sexual violence on campus. Abner and I continue to work on the experiential learning policy.

Opportunities for you!

- Encourage your friends to apply for the student at large position on the Art Committee. The art committees mandate is to: create a collection of artwork for display throughout the Students’ Union Building; Identify and evaluate potential sources for new artwork to add to the Collection; Elect artworks to be added to the Collection and recommend their acquisition to the Executive Committee. Our main goals with this committee this year is to get the Indigenous art mural painted in HUB and showcase Indigenous art as part of Aboriginal Awareness Week.
- Encourage your friends to apply for the student at large position Aboriginal Awareness Week Advisory Group. This group (lead by VP Kimani and I) will pick the speakers, events etc., for the week. The second group will be composed of our staff, and they will handle the logistics (like room booking) under the direction of the Advisory group.

Self-care tip
My simple tip this week is to spoil yourself! Always remember, "Look good, feel good". Last week for ‘self-care’ I got my nails done!

Best,
Talia Dixon

Dear Council,

Sorry this is short! I’m on a summer job grind and very little is happening with the Board.

1. I met with ISA’s VPX, where we discussed ISA’s referendum consultation, Cohort model tuition increases and coordinating meetings with equity seeking student groups.
2. I worked on GovCamp modules.
3. I continued meeting with Councillors!

Thanks for reading!

Ring House Coalition

Presentation to the Student’s Union Council

July 13th, 2021
The Ring House Coalition

• A group of historians, heritage professionals, architects, community leaders, and University student representatives who are concerned about the fate of the Ring Houses.

• Includes subcommittees dedicated to research, communications and outreach, internal and external advocacy

• Dedicated to raising awareness about the Ring Houses themselves, but also concerned about issues relating to heritage preservation in Edmonton.
Threat of Demolition

• In light of the major funding cuts to the University of Alberta, the U of A for Tomorrow campus plan was launched. This plan is restructuring the University and coping with the $216 million reduction in its Government of Alberta grant over 3 years.

• The Ring Houses were deemed not within the purview of its focus on education and research, and have been slated for demolition.

• While public updates were issued by the University, no public consultation was undertaken regarding the decision to demolish the Ring Houses.
The Coalition’s Stance

• The Coalition suggests the following:
  • The Ring Houses are a vital part of the University campus
  • The heritage value of the properties is irreplaceable and important. Their value is recognized by both people within the University of Alberta itself and the wider community
  • There are ways to regenerate and reuse the buildings for long-term future use that have the potential to be cost-effective
  • Maintaining Heritage properties is crucial to the U of A’s sustainability goals
  • The University should place a minimum one-year moratorium on demolition and removal to review and explore other options for the Ring Houses
What are the Ring Houses?

- The Ring Houses are a series of four buildings on the NW corner of the main University of Alberta campus.
- At one time, there were 10 houses.
- The Houses were long used to house University Presidents and Faculty, but came to serve a variety of other purposes.
Ring House 1

- Home of Henry Marshall Tory and Annie Tory, and four subsequent U of A Presidents
- Later, housed women students, and subsequently a long-standing art gallery, and the offices of UAlberta Museums
Ring House 2

- Initially home to Muir Edwards, one of the first Professors at the U of A, in Civil Engineering.
- Maury Van Vliet lived here with his family from 1950s to 1970s.
- Later, the U of A Press called Ring House 2 home.
Ring House 3

- The home of William Kerr until 1936; Kerr became U of A President and moved into Ring House 1
- 1950s – Dr. Herman Tennessen, Philosophy Professor, lived here
- 1969 to 2010, Ring House 3 is a Kindergarten run by the Faculty of Education
- UAlberta North
Ring House 4

- Adolf Lehmann first resident, a Chemistry Professor
- 1950s – artist H. G. Glyde and his family
- Glyde’s children, Henry (Hank) and Helen, continue family involvement in U of A life – Helen later curated the Ring House 1 art gallery; in 1960, Hank was a U of A Rhodes scholar, and later, Chair of Physics
Regeneration and Reuse

- Two regeneration workshops were held by heritage consultant Catherine C. Cole and architect Shafraaz Kaba in Spring 2021, which proposed several potential regenerative functions for the Houses
  - Among the proposals from this workshop included a craft brewery, café, boutique hotel, media arts centre, Artist-in-Residence spaces, offices for student organizations
- The use of the Houses for many other purposes over their life other than residences – as art gallery, offices, kindergarten, and so on – suggest the potential for continued uses and regeneration
Reimagine the Ring Houses Proposal

- Imagines the North-west corner of the campus as its own district that highlights the Ring Houses
- The proposal includes funding opportunities to ensure cost-effectiveness, and a mixture of cost-neutral, revenue-generating, and uses across age groups – from students to seniors
- Proposes a greater link between the Faculty Club and the Ring Houses
- Also proposes a greater integration between the river valley and University spaces – human-scale developments
What can the Student’s Union do?

• Advocate for a one-year moratorium on demolition and removal of the Ring Houses – write letters to President Bill Flanagan and Chancellor Peggy Garrity

• Support the discussion that the “Reimagine…” Proposal is meant to spark. Moreover, the Coalition would value any formal input the SU has on the Proposal.

• Make student interest in the issue of the built heritage on campus publicly known, whether through SU social media, The Gateway, etc.

• A more long-term apparatus within the SU on U of A heritage issues (Subcommittee? A permanent agenda item for someone within the SU? etc.)

Reimagine the Ring Houses
Conceptual Proposal
University of Alberta Ring Houses Coalition
June 23, 2021

Importance and Heritage Value
The importance of the Ring Houses goes far beyond the University campus to the making of modern Edmonton and Alberta. Built between 1911 and 1914, inspired by the ideas of the City Beautiful movement in urban planning and a practical need for faculty housing, the original ten houses were home to professors who were newcomers from far and wide; they created a significant new academic community and varsity neighbourhood. University Architect Cecil Scott Burgess designed Ring Houses 5 to 10 which, unfortunately, were demolished in 1970. Of the remaining houses:

- Ring House 1 is Canada’s oldest surviving residence of a university president, and was home to the University’s founding President Henry Marshall Tory;
- Ring House 2 was home to the first Professor of Engineering Muir Edwards, son of Henrietta Muir Edwards, one of the ‘Famous Five’ who fought to have women declared persons, and later to national leader Maury Van Vliet, who led the School of Physical Education from 1945 and was the first Dean of Physical Education and Recreation from 1964-75;
- Ring House 3 was home to Professor of Chemistry Adolph Lehmann, who collaborated with Karl Clark to develop the first successful process for separating oil from sand in northern Alberta; and
- Ring House 4 was home to the first Professor of Modern Languages William Kerr, who became first Dean of Arts and was President from 1936-41 and later H.G. Glyde, who taught community art classes in the Department of Extension from 1937 and established the Division of Fine Art where he taught from 1946 to 1966.

President Tory’s legacy includes the Alberta Research Council, the National Research Council, the Faculty of Medicine, and University Hospital. In 1949, Tory was designated a National Historic Person through the Historic Sites and Monuments Act. Ring Houses 1 to 4 were designed by Gordon Wilson and David Easton Herrald, who had a joint practice and were the architects of landmark public buildings in Strathcona, including Rutherford House. Strong cases can be made for the designation of all four remaining Craftsman-style homes as Provincial Historic Resources and for Ring House 1 to be designated as a National Historic Site.

University of Alberta Ring Houses Coalition
A community-driven coalition comprised of community members, professors, students, alumni, heritage architects, consultants, and activists formed a volunteer Coalition in February 2021. It has met weekly for the past four months to discuss the Ring Houses, their value to the University and broader community, and their future. In addition to writing to the Chancellor and President to request a moratorium on their demolition, and meeting with the Chancellor, the Coalition posted a public petition which now has more than 2,500 signatures; established the Facebook page Friends of the U of A Ring Houses; created a Fact Sheet to support the petition.
and designation initiatives; placed the Ring Houses on the National Trust for Canada’s List of Endangered Places; created videos to raise public awareness during the annual Jane’s Walk with over 1,400 views so far; and conducted original research on the architects, past residents and occupants of these historic sites as well as heritage policy concerns. Ken Chapman filed a FOIP request, in collaboration with the Edmonton Heritage Council, for the University’s planning documents related to the Ring Houses, and Architect Darrel Babuk organized a virtual symposium featuring key architects who have preserved historic structures on university campuses in many North America cities.

Benefits to the University of Preserving the Ring Houses

- Mission: Preservation of the Ring Houses supports the University’s mission to discover, disseminate, and apply “new knowledge for the benefit of society through teaching and learning, research and creative activity, community involvement, and partnerships.” The University is committed to values, traditions, and community relationships for the public good.

- Environmental Leadership and Sustainability: The University can demonstrate environmental leadership by restoring the Ring Houses. It is better to reuse an existing building than to tear it down and build new. Carl Elefante, former president of the American Institute of Architects, states that “The greenest building is the one that already exists.” Demolition and construction debris generate about 35 percent of Canada’s landfill waste. According to the National Trust for Canada https://nationaltrustcanada.ca/what-we-offer/regeneration-works, a new ‘green’ building takes 10 to 80 years, depending on its size, to overcome the carbon impacts of construction. The awarding of the 2021 Pritzker Architecture prize to the French architects Lacaton and Vassal, whose central concept is to never demolish, is indicative of this visionary trend. The Ring Houses are made with local red brick and old-growth timber; reuse is the sustainable option for these historic buildings according to best practices.

- Demonstration Projects with University-Community Partnerships: The Ring Houses can become demonstration projects for teaching, research, and community service. There are many possibilities that could be explored with further community consultation. To name just a few:
  - The Faculty of Arts could collaborate with Arts Habitat Edmonton if the spaces were to be used by artists, whether for residencies, exhibitions, or performances.
  - The University Club, the Faculty of Agricultural, Life and Environmental Sciences (ALES), the Culinary Arts Program at NAIT, and others could collaborate on the development of a boutique hotel and microbrewery integrated with academic programs as a living lab and generating revenues.
  - The Faculty of Engineering, ALES, and the School of Urban and Regional Planning could collaborate with the Edmonton Heritage Council and others to develop Tri-Council-funded projects focused on sustainability (e.g., energy retrofit and environmental leadership, economic impact) using this redevelopment as a living lab.

- Historic Designations and Funding Opportunities: Funding is available for small-scale heritage projects as well as for restoration and maintenance. Organizations like the Edmonton Community Foundation, the Edmonton Heritage Council, and the Government of Alberta fund heritage projects.
The Ring Houses can be designated municipally, provincially, and/or nationally and if the buildings were designated, specific modest funding sources become options:

- Municipally designated buildings are eligible for up to 50% of restoration costs for rehabilitation and one third of restoration costs to a maximum of $50,000 for maintenance every three years;
- Provincially designated buildings are eligible for up to $100,000 for a study to outline their conservation costs.

While the federal government does not generally provide funding to National Historic Sites, designation can enhance fundraising from other sources; the federal government provides funding for restoration costs depending upon how the project aligns with federal funding priorities (e.g., significant funding is available for green buildings and cultural spaces).

Public benefits also ensue as historic designations mark community assets as a legacy for present and future use. The National Trust for Canada maintains a database of funding sources for heritage regeneration projects. See below for more information on funding.

• Sense of Place: In her renowned book The Death and Life of Great American Cities (1961), Jane Jacobs wrote, "Old ideas can sometimes use new buildings. New ideas must use old buildings." The University, as a place germinating new ideas, must use old buildings. Jacobs also argued about the value of maintaining older, small buildings among medium and large buildings. The University is a city within a city, and the NW quadrant is currently underutilized and could be renewed by this small-scale development. Zita Cobb, a visionary businesswoman who saved the dying outport of Fogo Island, Newfoundland through community, heritage, art, and architecture said, "Place is not a commodity and shouldn’t be treated as such...Our human selves crave a relationship with time. Architecture and design help hold us in that relationship with time.” The power of memory, community, and architecture create relevance for us today. It is a way that we connect and remain connected into the future. It is critical that the Ring Houses remain in situ and not be moved. Moving a heritage resource destroys the relationship with its surroundings and the loss of historic features such as landscaping or foundations. Relocation is not preservation.

• Legacy: The Ring Houses provide a tangible link to the rich history and importance of the University of Alberta. Learning and research as well as community relationships are achieved by means of heritage conservation. Any redevelopment of the Ring Houses should incorporate exhibitions (e.g., archival photographs, artifacts, artwork) to promote greater understanding of the role and benefit of the University in the larger community and its stories, inclusive of Indigenous perspectives and land relations. Heritage architecture and the land are a tangible connection across generations to convey a pluralistic sense of values, stories, and legacies at the University of Alberta.

• Adaptive Reuse: The Coalition organized two virtual design workshops to explore creative possibilities of how the houses might be reconceived for future diverse uses, and how this development might be governed and funded. Participants in each of the workshops held included architects, artists, designers, developers, entrepreneurs, academics, Windsor Park residents, and Coalition members, facilitated by architect Shafraaz Kaba of Ask* for a Better World and an expert in Integrated Project Delivery. The first workshop focused on the adaptive reuse of Ring Houses themselves with a focus on sustainability, whereas the second explored possibilities for the entire area from the Windsor Car Park to the Ring Houses and the University Club. The workshops concluded that the Ring Houses could be valuable amenities to any redevelopment planned for the NW quadrant of campus, enliven what is currently an under-utilized space, and provide a friendly connection to the Windsor Park community and Edmonton River Valley. These ideas are presented as a starting point for discussion, not as the final word, to open potential for a once-in-a-generation shift suited to the University of Alberta for Tomorrow vision.

Governance/Operational Options for the Ring Houses

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Option I</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| University of Alberta owned and operated | - Current situation
- University has full authority
- Students, faculty, and staff can access spaces | - The University has determined that it does not want to continue with the status quo and seeks new solutions |
| Option II                       |            |               |
| University-owned, establish a ‘Friends of University of Alberta Heritage’ to restore and operate on behalf of the University | - The University maintains ownership and stewardship
- The ‘Friends’ could advise the University on policy related to other heritage buildings on campus and access additional funding sources
- In addition to restoration funding, the ‘Friends’ could apply for funding for research, exhibitions, and publications, for example, from:
  o Edmonton Community Foundation: $50,000-$80,000, depending on whether the applicant (a registered charity) has a previous relationship with the Foundation https://www.ecfoundation.org/grants/community-grants/
  o Alberta Culture’s Heritage Preservation Partnership Program: $10,000-$25,000 https://www.alberta.ca/heritage-awareness-grants.aspx
  o Edmonton Heritage Council: up to $25,000 https://edmontonheritage.ca/
  o Depending on the future use of the houses could generate revenue from government grants, foundations, corporate sponsorship, donations, social enterprise, sales, facility rental, leases, programming, and admissions
- Members of the Coalition might be asked to serve on the founding board, engage alumni and community members
- Students, faculty, and staff might access spaces | - Would need to establish the ‘Friends’ and register as a charity
- Would take some time to put in place
- If not a ‘Friends’ the University could apply in collaboration with another charitable partner |
| Option III | University-owned, restored and operated by one or more not-for-profit/registered charities on a long-term lease (99 years, $1/year) | • As above
• University maintains ownership, and staff and students would maintain access under the agreed upon conditions
• Revenue neutral
• Funding available depends on how the houses are restored and their future; for example, if they are to be Green and Inclusive buildings they would be eligible for federal funding of under $3 million https://www.infrastructure.gc.ca/gicb-bcvi/index-eng.html; if the future use is considered cultural, could apply to the Canada Cultural Spaces Fund for a large grant https://www.canada.ca/en/canadian-heritage/services/funding/cultural-spaces-fund.html
• Sources in the National Trust database could be accessed for other uses, e.g., environmental, international development, start-up, economic regeneration, https://regenerationworks.ca/resources/find-funding/
• The following are examples of possible uses – and more can be explored:
  • Could collaborate with an organization such as ArtsHabitat Edmonton, with a mandate to develop spaces for artists to live, produce and present to undertake the renovation and assume responsibility for restoration and operations https://www.artshab.com/
  • Could collaborate with DOC Alberta to develop a documentary film centre of excellence https://www.docorg.ca/doc_alberta
  • Could collaborate with an organization like Passive House Alberta that is committed to energy efficient housing https://www.passivehousealberta.com/
  • Could develop an incubator for small international development organizations and student training opportunities
  • A professional association with links to the university might undertake the renovation as offices, for example, APEGA
• Strong university/ community collaboration | • Would need to identify partner(s) through consultation or possibly an RFP process |

Campus Food Bank History

- Created in response to increases in international student tuition in 1991
- Students from all backgrounds began accessing the service, not just anticipated group
- Moved from being a small service to an independent non-profit organization
- Supported by the campus community and alumni
What is Food Security?

Food security exists when all people, at all times, have physical, social and economic access to sufficient, safe and nutritious food which meets their dietary needs and food preferences for an active and healthy life.

Food Insecurity on Canadian Campuses

- 39% of students moderately or severely food insecure across 5 Canadian campuses (including U of C)

- 35% of students moderately or severely food insecure at University of Manitoba
  Entz, Slater, & Desmarais (2017). Student food insecurity at the University of Manitoba. Canadian Food Studies, Vol. 4 No. 1, pp. 139–159 DOI: 10.15353/cfsrece.v4i1.204

- 40% of students experience some degree of food insecure at University of Saskatchewan

Stereotypes of Students

- Students are often assumed to be:
  - 18-24 year olds
  - Supported by parents or family
  - Certain amount of privilege
  - International students are wealthy

- Stereotype of how students should live (ex Eating instant noodles and Kraft Dinner)
  - “Starving student” - adversity is just part of the experience of being a student
At Increased Risk of Food Insecurity

- International students have 2 times the increased risk compared to domestic students
- Graduate students have 1.2 times the increased risk
- Students who parent have 1.7 times the increased risk

*Based on Odds Ratio (OR) where greater than 1 indicates an increased association with being food insecure.

I am taking care of my grandkids while back in school. My program funding has been delayed, so the food bank helps me feed my family.

The currency rate has dropped back home so my family is no longer able to help when my savings are running low.

My student loans were delayed, and I have bills such as rent and tuition that have to be paid on time. Paying for food too is tough right now, so using the food bank is helping me afford it.

I am in school full-time and my spouse takes care of our three kids. My part-time income from my program doesn’t cover our living costs, so we rely on the Child Tax Benefit and occasional food hampers to cover gaps.

I am new to Alberta and I have difficulty finding low cost food options that fit my dietary restrictions. I am not used to the food options here yet.
